Rumpke Celebrates Recycling Buy-Back Center Grand Opening

IRONTON, Ohio—Aug. 14, 2007—Rumpke Recycling officially opens its recycling buy-back center on Saturday, Aug. 18 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Rumpke Recycling will offer cash for recyclables at its facility located in Hanging Rock off County Road 1A next to Duke Energy, including a one-day grand opening special price of 90 cents per pound for aluminum cans. Rumpke Recycling will also have drawings for prizes, free food and live entertainment.

“Rumpke Recycling wants to make the recycling buy-back center grand opening a special celebration for the tri-state community,” said Steve Sargent, Rumpke director of recycling. “Our customers truly embrace and understand the importance of recycling, and now residents can receive cash for their recycling efforts.”

Rumpke Recycling will also pay cash for newspaper, junk mail, cardboard, office paper, magazines, steel and other scrap metals. There are no minimums or coupons required to receive cash for recyclables.

There will also be activities for children, including pictures with garbage trucks and Rumpke Recycling’s mascot, Binny.

After the Aug. 18 grand opening, the recycling buy-back center will be open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon.

Rumpke Recycling is a division of Rumpke Consolidated Companies, Inc. Rumpke is the third largest privately owned waste hauler in the United States, owning or operating several landfills, transfer stations and recycling centers throughout Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana. Rumpke employs nearly 60 people at its regional facility located in Ironton, Ohio.
