Recycling Options Expand in Jackson

Cardboard Recycling Added in Wal-Mart Parking Lot

WELLSTON, Ohio (Feb. 27, 2009) Rumpke Recycling and the Gallia-Jackson-Meigs-Vinton Solid Waste Management District (GJMV) have partnered to provide a public recycling container for cardboard at the Wal-Mart in Jackson, Ohio.

Area residents are encouraged to bring used corrugated cardboard boxes to the recycling drop-off box instead of placing it in the trash. Boxes should be broken down into 3-feet by 3-feet sections to fit into the container and to save space.

“Rumpke Recycling is excited work with GJMV to offer cardboard recycling to the Jackson community,” said Mari Long, Rumpke Recycling sales manager. “Thank you to Wal-Mart for giving us a location to make this wonderful opportunity available, and we hope residents take advantage of the new recycling option.”

Other recycling options offered by GJMV in the Wal-Mart parking lot are plastic bottles #1-2, aluminum and steel cans, glass bottles, newspapers, magazines and catalogs.

“We added the cardboard option because of the success of the current recycling program,” said Mike Massie, GJMV coordinator. “Recycling is an investment in creating jobs and strengthening Ohio’s economy, preserving natural resources, conserving landfill space and helping our environment.”
